1.) Our Mission Statement

"Enjoy, learn, achieve"

2.) Grove School Expectations

It is the expectation that all adults working at Grove and all visitors to Grove, including parents, are aware of and understand how to reward children for following our expectations.

In every classroom and the main school areas there are copies of the Grove Expectations.

Children, parents and staff evolved our "Grove Expectations" in 1995. They have been reviewed regularly with staff, pupils and governors and have not changed over time.

As pupils, staff, parents and visitors:

- We treat others as we would like to be treated
- We are kind and don't hurt others or their feelings
- We respect all property
- We always try to do our best
- We are honest and tell the truth
- We are good listeners and thoughtful speakers.

At Grove School we aim to:

- Promote good behaviour;
- Develop excellent attitudes to learning;
- Celebrate achievements;

- Foster an atmosphere where pupils are proud of their achievements and those of others and where pupils show respect for the ideas of their peers;
- Develop in pupils self- discipline, an ability to self-regulate and show resilience;
- Ensure pupils feel safe and secure at all times.

3.) The school behaviour policy

What the law says:

i. The headteacher must set out measures in the behaviour policy which aim to: • promote good behaviour, self-discipline and respect; • prevent bullying; • ensure that pupils complete assigned work; and which • regulate the conduct of pupils.¹

ii. When deciding what these measures should be, the headteacher must take account of the governing body's statement of behaviour principles. The headteacher must have regard to any guidance or notification provided by the governing body which may include the following: • screening and searching pupils; • the power to use reasonable force and other physical contact; • the power to discipline beyond the school gate; • when to work with other local agencies to assess the needs of pupils who display continuous disruptive behaviour; and • pastoral care for staff accused of misconduct.

iii. The headteacher must decide the standard of behaviour expected of pupils at the school. He or she must also determine the school rules and any disciplinary penalties for 1 Section 89 (1) of the Education and Inspections Act 2006 5 breaking the rules.

iv. Teachers' powers to discipline include the power to discipline pupils even when they are not at school or in the charge of a member of staff.

v. The headteacher must publicise the school behaviour policy, in writing, to staff, parents and pupils at least once a year.

vi. The school's behaviour policy must be published on its website (School Information (England) Regulations 2008). Where they do not have a website the governing body should make arrangements for the behaviour policy to be put on a website and to make the address and details (of the website) known to parents.

4.) Rewarding and celebrating good behaviour

At Grove we recognise and celebrate positive attitudes to learning and behaviour in the following ways:

- Verbal praise
- Physical gestures to communicate good behaviour and work
- Sharing of good work with peers in class and in other classes
- Celebrating work of a high standard and/or effort with work with the Head teacher/deputy head teacher, stickers and prizes awarded
- Star of the week awarded by class teacher and celebrated in Friday assemblies

- Lunchtime star of the week awarded by lunchtime supervisors and playcare coordinators and celebrated in Friday assemblies
- Being recognised and selected by peers to represent the class as a school council member or Young Person's Parliament representative
- Being selected by staff to welcome and show visitors Grove School
- Citizenship project, children being selected and acting as peer support (playleaders peer mediators, buddy readers, helping in EYFS)
- End of year award ceremonies
- Residential visits.

Within year groups there may be specific rewards to encourage good behaviour e.g recording children's names on a happy/positive board, a thinking side.

Grove school does not use any electronic reward systems.

5.) Identifying and supporting pupils with emotional and behavioural needs

i) Class teachers and teaching assistants support pupils with emotional and behavioural needs using the schools behaviour management programme. This provides children with the opportunity to be reminded of appropriate behaviour, the Grove Expectations and self- correct their behaviours.

ii) Behaviour Management Programme

If a child is not meeting the Grove Expectations:

- a. remind the child of the behaviour you wish to see and provide them with an opportunity to show you they can improve
- b. if the behaviour persists, inform the child you may need to ask them to move them to another area within the learning space
- c. if the behaviour persists, inform the child you may need to ask them to leave the classroom and spend time in another class. Be specific about why this needs to happen, who they are spending time with and for what length of time. Monitor the number of incidents and record.
- d. as a consequence of a pupil not meeting behaviour expectations a pupil may be requested to stay with a member of staff at playtime and/or lunchtime to finish work or discuss concerns/incidents

If the negative behaviours persist discuss the need for a target card with a senior member of staff, usually a year group leader.

- iii) Parents are invited to meet with the class teacher and/or the year group leader to discuss the nature of the inappropriate behaviour and a target or improvement agreed. This target is related to the Grove expectations. In the majority of cases the target card system is agreed with the consent of the parent. A meeting is held with parents to agree the target. If a parent does not agree school can still use this supportive measure.
- iv) If a child is being supported by a school target card, they will not be invited to attend off site educational visits, residential visits or attend after school clubs until their behaviour has improved, they are meeting the Grove expectations and the support of the target card is no longer deemed necessary.
- v) To fully support the child making progress against their targets parents are invited to attend a weekly meeting with the class teacher. Progress against the target is discussed and a comment added to the card by the teacher and parent. The target card is signed and dated.
- vi) The yellow (first)target card will be monitored by the class teacher for a minimum period of two weeks. If there is no significant improvement the targets will be discussed and reviewed and the pupil will be supported by a green target card (second). This is monitored by the year group leader for two weeks. If, at the end of the two week period, there is no significant improvement the Assistant Head teacher will agree the targets with the pupil, parent and class teacher and will monitor for a period of two weeks. This is a purple target card (third).

Pupils may be supported by target cards for class, playtime or lunchtime behaviour.

Yellow target card 2 weeks	Class teacher monitors and meets with parents
Green target card 2 weeks	Year group leader monitors and meets with parents
Purple target card 2 weeks	Assistant head teacher monitors and meets with parents

If a child meets with success supported by a yellow target card the system is no longer used at the end of the two week period. If the child is not meeting with success they will move to a green target card, the target may be modified. At the end of the two week period supported by a green target card the child would then move back to the yellow target card.

For some pupils it may be appropriate to include a reward to encourage them to meet the target. Depending on the age and understanding of the child this reward may be sessional, at the end of a day or at the end of a week.

- vii) Where children have made no progress on the schools short term behaviour programme, the assistant head teacher will discuss with the parents and class teacher the child's special educational needs in relation to emotional, social and behavioural needs. A child may not be responding to the school's support programme and school may need to investigate if the child needs additional support from an external agency. The year group leader and class teacher will complete a behavioural and emotional assessment with school's behaviour support manager; this will identify the specific needs of the individual child. The specific needs and targets for the Individual One Page Profile will be shared with parents. The support for the pupil and how progress will be monitored will be discussed. The parent will be informed of a review date for the One Page Profile and will agree how they can support their child's targets at home. A child will be identified as having emotional and behavioural needs on the school's special educational needs register.

9. Pastoral Support Plans (PSP)

A Pastoral Support Plan may be necessary if a child's behaviour at school means that they have been permanently excluded or are "at risk" of permanent exclusion. "At risk" means that the child is not responding to the school's normal range of strategies and support and several short term exclusions may be indicative of this. A PSP will be needed in particular for those children whose behaviour is deteriorating rapidly.

A Pastoral Support Plan (PSP) is a school based programme which is meant to help a child to improve their social, emotional and behavioural skills. The PSP will identify precise and specific targets for the child to work towards and should include the child and parents in the drafting process. When a PSP is thought to be required a PSP meeting should be held during the normal school day. The teachers and the child's parents will consider whether the child should be present for the whole meeting or only part of it. At the end of the meeting everyone should be clear about what needs to be done, by whom and by when. PSPs are usually reviewed every 4 weeks and usually run for approximately 16 weeks.

The aim of a PSP is to promote the child's social inclusion and help reduce the possibility of the child's permanent exclusion. The PSP aims to involve the child in the challenge of improving their behaviour and social skills. As a result of a PSP, a child should be able to better manage their behaviour at school.

10) The role and responsibility of the Governing Body

It is the responsibility of the school governing body to:

- a. Termly monitor the effectiveness of this policy through the work of the Performance, Safeguarding and Curriculum committee
- b. It is the responsibility of the governing body to review the policy on an annual basis
- c. It is the responsibility of the governing body to ensure school is following the advice in Behaviour and discipline in schools, DFE January 2016
