

Holiday Project: let's get cooking!

December 2017

Next term we are going to be celebrating the history of Handsworth. One of the special things about Handsworth is the number of different cultures that are represented here. How many shops or restaurants selling food from different countries can you see down your street? Make a list of the shop/ restaurant names and the type of food they sell.

Then, find out about a meal which you have never cooked before from a different culture. It could be a delicious Vietnamese dish, scrumptious Polish meal, a tasty Jamaican feast, or something else. Write the recipe to include in our Year 6 cook book. Then try making it. How did it taste? Write this and include some pictures of your dish if you can. If your dish is particularly tasty we could even try making it next term!

Good luck with your cooking, we can't wait to hear all about it!

Holiday Project: tell me about yourself!

December 2017

There are so many interesting people who live in Handsworth, and each of them has their own, unique story to tell. Find someone to interview about their experiences of living in Handsworth.

- What was Handsworth like when they were younger?
- How has it changed over time?
- What do they think is the most special thing about living in Handsworth?
- What stories can they share about their life?

Record what you find out ready to share this with the class when you return on Tuesday 9th January.
