

Year 6

Holiday Project

Spring half-term 2019

Throughout history many people have had different and interesting views of how the world was created. Next term we will be learning about what each of the major world religions believed happened. We are asking you to research how people from long ago thought the world was created.

Your challenge is to research Greek, Viking or Aztec views on creation and present your findings however you would like (as a poster, storyboard or even a powerpoint). Perhaps over the holidays you would like to visit the Birmingham Museum in Chamberlain Square.

(Birmingham) to see what you can find out. You could visit Handsworth library to find out and research.

We look forward to reading what you find out.

Please bring your work back to school on Monday 26th February.
